

Closet Consultation

Has your date arrived at the door while you are still in your underwear, frantically rummaging through your closet?

Have you ever been late, or entirely missed an event because you couldn't pull an outfit together?

Do you go to the mall without a plan, a guide, or a clue?

Do you "panic shop" for almost every special occasion? In other words, does an invitation equal an emergency trip to the mall and hundreds of dollars in spending?

Do you have items in your closet that are ticketed, unworn, or ill fitting?

Do you try on at least three outfits before walking out the door? If so, does the evidence reside in a messy pile of clothing on your bedroom floor?

Do you have what I call 'the wardrobe blues and closet dreads'?
